

Snapshots

Written by

Hundreds of the Twin Cities best dressed turned out for The Dandies Project launch. The Dandies Project is a photo montage designed to highlight the positive impact that men of color have brought to their community, with a sense of purpose and style.

The Dandies Project will be a yearly coffee table book highlighting selected "Dandies" from year to year. The concept is a creation of area fashion icon, Richard Moody. Some of this year's Dandies include Nick Hooks, Will Shuford (DJ Willie Shu), Raynardo Williams, B Justin Parker, Corey Collins and Chris McDuffie.

The launch that took place at Handsome Cycle, 115 Washington Ave. N, downtown Minneapolis truly brought out some of the area's most stylish and beautiful people. Aesthetically Speaking captured a few of the beautiful faces in the crowd.

Dandy, Nick Hooks points to the reason he was chosen to be a Dandy.

Snapshots

Written by

The Dandies Project visionary, Richard Moody

Supporting The Dandies Project, Michelle Miller and Shlynn Hayes were on hand to party and

Snapshots

Written by

Anise McDowell (left) and Janvievre Kamara (right) make jeweler Mike Gittelson feel like the

Snapshots

Written by

Shane and Jones (far right), Bell and Spapalino (center), Heath and Barry, Burgess (center left), and Lisa