A U.S. Bancorp employee has been honored by the Minneapolis/St. Paul Business Journal. Anthony Kelley, senior vice president and credit manager for U.S. Bancorp's credit administration division, was named one of the Business Journal's 40 Under Forty honorees for 2009.

The 40 Under Forty award is bestowed upon 40 honorees based on their professional accomplishments, demonstrated leadership and community contributions.

"Tony has been a big asset to U.S. Bancorp's credit administration division," said P.W. "Bill" Parker, executive vice president and chief credit officer at U.S. Bancorp. "He is highly intelligent and focused, which help him excel with his responsibilities, which include all of the credit reporting at U.S. Bancorp."

Kelley is responsible for providing overall leadership and direction for forecasting and reporting of U.S. Bancorp's credit statistics, as well as developing a system of internal controls for the company's credit administration division.

Kelley is an active supporter of several local community organizations, including the Greater Twin Cities United Way and Project Homeless Connect. He also does volunteer work for All About Family and A Brush With Kindness, a project of Twin Cities Habitat for Humanity.

A lifelong resident of the Twin Cities area, Kelley is a graduate of Washburn High School in Minneapolis. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics from the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul. He resides in Minneapolis with his wife, Katie, and their two children.
